

Message from the President

Vincent Rojas, Jr.
President/CEO

The holiday season is upon us. 2007 has passed quickly. The economy has challenged many of us with the real estate market depreciating instead of appreciating as it has in the past years. During 2007, your Credit Union has maintained its solid growth financially. We have been able to maintain competitive interest rates on shares and share certificates. An investment you can count on, Kern Schools Federal Credit Union deposits are insured by the National Credit Union Share Insurance Fund, a federal fund backed by the full faith and credit of the United States government.

A recent article in USA Today talked about maximizing federal deposit insurance. Under federal rules, a married couple can have up to $1.1 million in insured deposits at the same financial institution. Here's how:

- Each spouse is eligible for up to $250,000 in insured individual retirement deposits, for a total of $500,000.
- Each spouse is eligible for up to $100,000 in individual non-retirement insured deposits, for a total of $200,000.
- Joint accounts are treated separately under the rules. So a couple could save an additional $200,000 in a federally insured joint account. To qualify, though, both spouses must enjoy equal withdrawal rights. If one spouse needs the other's permission to take withdrawals, it's not considered a joint account.
- The couple could each save an additional $100,000 by naming each other as the beneficiary in a payable-on-death account or living trust-accounts for estate-planning purposes.

Last issue, our discussion related to mortgage loans. This is probably the highest dollar amount of purchase we will make in our lifetime. It is important to know and understand what this transaction means. Kern Schools Federal Credit Union only makes conforming mortgage loans and continues to do so. If you are in the market to buy a house don't forget to check with us.

As a $1.7 billion Credit Union our purpose is to be a complete financial institution for our members, something we have never forgotten to do. Our goal is to provide a reasonable return to our savers, and to provide fair interest rates on loans to our borrowers.

May everyone have a Happy Holiday, and a Prosperous New Year!

"Together, we have something special!"

Foreclosure Workshop Re-Cap

The CU sponsored a Foreclosure Prevention Workshop on November 13th and the public was invited. Of the more than 130 homeowners who attended, most were not yet members of the Credit Union. Many came to the CU because their own lender wouldn't talk to them. Some didn't even know who their lender was because their loan had been sold multiple times. Some came knowing they had an adjustable rate mortgage and would soon be unable to afford their monthly payment when their interest rate goes up. Several didn't know what kind of loan they had so they brought copies of their loan documents to review with a CU Loan Consultant. What they all had in common was wanting to find a way to keep their homes.

Those who attended heard Katy Hudson, CEO of Consumer Credit Counseling Service of Kern & Tulare Counties, give a presentation on what is causing the high number of foreclosures in Kern County and what options are available to struggling homeowners. The number one thing she stressed was for homeowners to contact their lender early, as soon as they think there will be a problem with making the monthly payments.

She also had advice for those looking to refinance or purchase a home:

- Work with a local lender.
- Find a local loan agent who is not on commission.
- Avoid loans that have prepayment penalties.
- Be sure to read loan documents before signing.
- Don't be afraid to ask questions.
- Have property taxes and insurance included in your monthly payment.

Surely, both the homeowner and the lender lose in a foreclosure. Many recent foreclosures could have been prevented had the borrower and lender addressed problems early on while there were still options available.

The CU has received numerous calls from homeowners who were unable to attend our workshop and wanted to know if there will be another one. Our message to them is to not wait for another workshop but to call us now at 833-7926 to talk with one of our Home Loan Specialists. We have already helped many who attended the workshop. Your Credit Union is making a difference, one member at a time.

Live Chat

Now available in DataNet!

Your Credit Union has "gone live!" If you don't have time to visit a branch, or you do not have access to a phone, you now have another option to receive help, with Live Chat, in DataNet.

Once logged into DataNet, on the left side of the screen, select the box "Questions? Click here for a live text chat with an eBranch specialist." Once you click, fill in your name and account number and an eBranch specialist will respond within just a few seconds.

Live Chat is available Monday through Thursday from 8:00 to 5:00, Friday from 8:00 to 6:00 and Saturday from 9:00 to 1:00.

IRA Contributions

IRA & Deferred Compensation Holders over 70 1/2 years old

Once again as the year comes to an end, we would like to remind our IRA holders and Deferred Compensation participants over the age of 70 1/2 that you must take distributions large enough to satisfy your Required Minimum Distribution (RMD). You cannot keep funds in a traditional IRA and/or a Deferred Compensation account indefinitely. If you do not take any distributions, or if the distributions are not large enough, you may have to pay a 50% excise tax on the amount not distributed as required.

If you have not taken any distributions this year or if you do not have an automatic distribution scheduled, please visit one of our branch offices and a Financial Services Officer will assist you. They can determine your RMD for 2007 and help you set up an ongoing automatic distribution schedule.

Retirement Planning

Building a Comfortable Lifestyle for Tomorrow

An alarming 43% of baby boomers are at risk of retiring with an income that falls short by 10% or more of what they will need to maintain their current lifestyles.

How Much Will You Need to Retire?

If your retirement lifestyle was going to be reduced by 10% or more, when would you want to know about it?

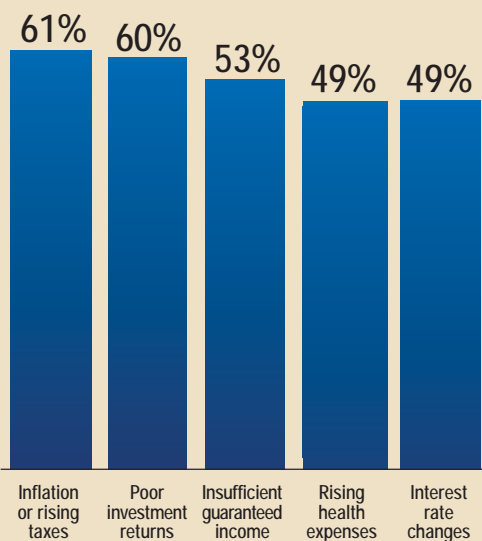

One way to help reduce potential surprises is to perform a retirement needs calculation. You can get started by asking yourself these questions.

- At what age will I retire, and how long do I expect to be retired? You might have a pretty good idea of when you would like to retire, but obviously you can't predict exactly how long you will live. However, it's still a good idea to try to estimate this – and ideally you should over-estimate by about five years. Factors to consider should include the health and longevity of people in your family, your current health and lifestyle, and how long people in your age group are expected to live.
- Will I still have a mortgage when I retire? Some people would never dream of retiring with a mortgage, whereas others still see theirs as a valuable tool. With today's higher real estate values and modern financing programs, carrying a mortgage into retirement may come down to your personal comfort level. Regardless, it's a good idea to consider the role a mortgage will play in your retirement.
- How much income will my preferred lifestyle require? Everyone has different ideas about the perfect retirement, but walking away from a regular paycheck can be a scary proposition. Be realistic not only about estimating your living expenses but also about what it will cost to achieve your hopes and dreams. Whether you intend to travel, play golf, volunteer, or sail around the world, you will have more choices the sooner you get serious about meeting your goals.

If you haven't yet performed a retirement needs calculation, call us today. We can help you learn how much of your current income you need to set aside now to help pay for the retirement of your dreams.
